the sportage brand

The Sportage brand has been built on its combed cotton selection introduced in 1998.

Now in its 15th year, Sportage goes to another level with the introduction of 6 new fashion styles in a retail weight combed cotton 150gm. The fine feel of the combed cotton Surf Tee has been the backbone of the Sportage range with its crossover appeal of 30 colours taking this Tee to retail, branding, fashion, events and promotions.

As a general rule, combed cotton garments globally are more expensive than conventional cotton but the Sportage range offers value for money with this extremely soft and strong material which is ideal for making our Sportage cotton range. It's an excellent choice for garments as it is gentle against the skin.

Let us explain, combed cotton is an extremely soft fabric made by specially treating the cotton fibres before they are spun into yarn. Combed cotton is softer and prints better because it lacks short stick out threads that prickle and is stronger because the shorter and breakable fibres have already been removed by combing.

Sportage uses combed cotton for tees and singlets because of the softness and strength of the fabric. Cotton which has not undergone the combing step tends to be more rough, not print as well and will be prone to more shrinkage.

Cotton is a soft, fluffy staple fibre that grows in a boll, or protective capsule, around the seeds of cotton plants. The plant is a shrub native to tropical and subtropical regions around the world, including the Americas, Africa, and India. The greatest diversity of wild cotton species is found in Mexico, followed by Australia and Africa. Successful cultivation of cotton requires a long frost-free period, plenty of sunshine, and a moderate rainfall, usually from 600 to 1200 mm.

The fibre most often is spun into yarn or thread and used to make a soft, breathable textile. Cotton is still a principal raw material for the world's textile industry, but its dominant position has been seriously eroded by synthetic fibres. In the United States, for example, cotton accounts today for about 35 per cent of the materials processed in textile mills, as against 80 per cent before World War II.

The cotton industry is constantly striving to develop new and improved methods for producing quality products at a reasonable price. The cotton industry continues to look toward the future at further improving their product while providing employment opportunities for millions of people in a variety of related areas. The dying of fabric and the assembly of clothing and other products can provide employment for many. The cotton industry continues to find new and improved uses for cotton worldwide and the public fuels continuous demand for this important commodity.

With cotton having all these uses and benefits, it has certainly lived up to the name it was given years ago.... "White Gold".

Indenting is a custom make service that Sportage offers using off-shore factories in both Bangladesh and China. We have a versatile Indent Service where we can source any style of garments shown in this catalogue or from your own designs or samples. To be consistent, we can use any of the weights and colours we have in either the 150gm or 190gm combed cotton, pique knit polos or fleece fabrics.

We can decorate with embroidery or screen printing, dependent on your budget and requirement and this customisation can include one or both methods of decoration, your own custom neck labels, packaging, hang tags and anything that is required to make the garment individually yours.

We work with our distributors to best manage your off-shore manufacturing and advise on an individual basis on minimums and delivery times.

We also local on-shore decoration of screenprinting and embroidery if time frames do not allow for off-shore decoration or if you wish to use garments from our comprehensive stock on floor supply from our warehouse in Sydney Australia.

Quick response is a feature of the Sportage brand so if you have an event, occasion, club requirement or retail promotion than don't hesitate to get in touch with your Sportage Distributor for a full option list or go to this Web Site first www.sportage.com.au
